

Resources for Practitioners

<http://www.oregon.gov/OCCF/index.shtml>

A USA based website that gives access to best practice guidelines and evaluated programs that support children and their families

<http://www.aghealth.org.au/index.php?id=5061>

Has health promotion information and resources, including teaching supports about preventable injuries for children who live on rural properties.

<http://www.healthystart.net.au/>

This site provides on-line resources to professionals (and some for parents) working with parents who have learning difficulties. It targets practitioners in health, education and community services and enable them to share information, skills and knowledge to promote best practice and support parents with learning difficulties. Has handouts, resources etc to download. Eg: training programs and resources, practice network.

<http://www.rch.org.au>

The Centre for Community Child Health (CCCH) has been at the forefront of Australian research into early childhood development and behaviour. CCCH conducts research into the many conditions and common problems faced by children, such as obesity, language and literacy delay, and behavioural concerns, that are either preventable or can be improved if recognised and managed early.